

ONE PARTNER. Multiple Solutions.

Focus on What Matters Most—Your Clients.

When you're growing a business, every moment spent juggling vendors, managing multiple teams, or troubleshooting onsite delays is time taken away from what truly matters: your clients. That's where subcontractors that offer multiple services can come in handy—to support your operations, streamline execution, and help you scale effectively.

You Drive the Vision, the Subcontractor Executes.

Whether you're an AV system integrator, a technology provider, or a facilities manager overseeing complex projects, vendors that bring together everything you need to be successful under one roof are beneficial. Look for the following:

AV Systems Integration – You get a plug-and-play solution that saves time and ensures professional results—without the need to build and maintain a full-time tech team. Experienced AV technicians handle everything from cable pulling to commissioning.

Medical and Capitol Equipment Installation – Certified crews install and support complex, capitol technologies with precision and care—letting your team stay focused on innovation and client relationships.

Construction & Tenant Improvements – Looking for clean execution that keeps you on schedule and under budget? As a licensed General Contractor, we manage demolition, buildouts, and upgrades, so you don't have to coordinate with multiple trades or contractors.

Field Services & Nationwide Deployments – Beyond installation, preventative maintenance programs extend system life, reduce downtime, and protect your brand's reputation. A national footprint, so you can deliver local-level execution anywhere without spreading your team too thin.

Why Our Clients Succeed

KR Wolfe isn't just another service provider—we're your execution partner. Our clients trust us because we:

- Act as an extension of your brand in the field
- Free up your internal team to focus on high-value client relationships
- Provide flexible, scalable labor without added overhead
- Deliver consistent quality, so you can promise—and keep—great results

- Support your growth by helping you take on more projects, faster

Real Results. Real Scalability.

Our clients aren't just getting a vendor—they're gaining a trusted partner who works behind the scenes to keep operations running smoothly. With KR Wolfe, you never have to choose between scaling your business and maintaining your standards.

Let's Build Success—While You Build Your Business

Your clients come first. We make sure they stay that way.